companies

We multiply opportunities

We improve your company's performance, continuously generating business opportunities and participation in collaborative innovation projects in all industrial sectors of our economy.

We are your deep tech innovation ecosystem.

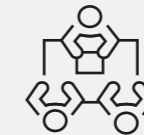

We offer you...

Connection to industry

Access to private and public funding

Connection with technology partners

Visibility and positioning

International connection

Access to top-level scientific facilities

How do we do it?

Connecting entrepreneurial and research talent with capital, market and industrial challenges.

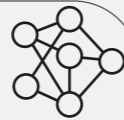

We improve your company's performance, continuously generating business opportunities and participation in collaborative innovation projects in all industrial sectors of our economy.

And all this while giving visibility to your company, positioning it as part of a dynamic deep tech ecosystem that will help you strengthen both your strategy and your products, through access to an exclusive ecosystem of private investors and large companies as well as to the best scientific talent and top-level scientific facilities.

Our formula. We connect you to the future.

A methodology endorsed by more than 500 companies in 30 industrial sectors.

Connection to industry

- Thanks to our wide network of contacts and extensive collaboration with more than 30 sectors, we help you identify market needs and technological challenges in the industry, in order to connect your product and service to the market.

Visibility and positioning

- We give visibility to your products and services through our communication channels and our press agency specialised in technological innovation to position your technology in the deep tech ecosystem. This visibility translates into new business opportunities and projects.

International connection

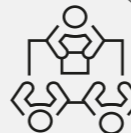

- We give you access to our extensive network of contacts on five continents and help you to join international projects. We carry out collaboration programmes with countries in North Africa, the Middle East or Latin America, constantly looking for funding and matchmaking opportunities for you.

Access to public and private funding

- We help you get public and/or private funding to develop your technology, commercialise your product and grow in the market.

Connection with technology partners

- We give you access to technical expertise and help you find the best technology partners for your project.

Access to top-level scientific facilities

- We provide you with access to the main scientific and technical facilities in order to introduce differentiating factors in your technological development.
